Your comment: It is one day after the deadline. The two comments available at this time present a serious potential security problem insofar as there is alleged to be signature verification from a number of parties that did not actually provide electronic or written signatures. That the other response is for a life insurance company...let this be a record that it is not acceptable to weaponize or create "contracts" for potential abuse using public comments for federal agencies or those operating under the jurisdiction in which the Constitution needs to be considered. There is a complimentary comment on R-1722 that was completed immediately before this one here. It is so obvious what this is. 10:57 pm CST on Sept. 1, 2020.
