Subject: Support for the OneWest and CIT Merger

Dear Chair Yellen, President Dudley and Comptroller Curry,

I am writing to offer my support for the pending OneWest and CIT merger. OneWest serves as a strong source of capital and banking services to the Southern California community. This merger will retain and create new jobs in California. I believe the management team and OneWest have demonstrated its commitment to our community and to serving the needs of not only their clients but the community at large and due to this, I do not believe there is a need for a public hearing.

Kind regards,
Scott Nelson

Dear Phillip and David,

I am submitting for the record the attached Daily Kos petition (4th attachment), and 3 files containing the names of individuals who have signed on to the petition and who wish to register their opposition to the proposed bank and bank holding company merger of CIT Group and OneWest Bank. Some of the individuals added their own comments, as you will see. We trust and expect that this opposition and all comments will be considered as part of the record and will be considered in the OCC and Fed's determination as to whether the merger should be approved and whether there shall be public hearings.

I am ccing Paul Hogarth of Daily Kos who may answer any questions you have, and may wish to offer additional comment.

Thank you for recording these 15,559 individuals as "opposed" to the merger.

Kevin

Stop the merger of banks that will be "Too Big to Fail"

Signed by: 15,559 people from across the US who are concerned about this proposed Too Big To Fail bank merger.

Two banks with troubled histories of foreclosures and squandered public bailouts are now asking the Federal Reserve to merge, making them "too big to fail."

OneWest Bank moved to foreclose on Myrtle Lewis, a 103-year-old Texas widow, because she forgot to pay her house insurance. Public pressure stopped this foreclosure, but OneWest has one of the worst records in the industry when it comes to mortgage modifications.

CIT Group bank received $2.3 billion in taxpayer funds in 2008 during the bank bailout, so they could help small businesses with loans. Instead, CIT Group filed for bankruptcy in 2009 while serving very few small businesses.

Now, these two banks are seeking permission from the Federal Reserve to merge into a $70 billion "too big to fail" mega-bank. And they are even pressuring the Fed to not hold a hearing.

Our Message to Fed Reserve Chair Janet Yellen:

The Federal Reserve should not reward banks that unfairly foreclose on homeowners and squander public funds with a merger that would make them "too big to fail."

Please reject the proposed merger of OneWest Bank and CIT Group.

GIB	CHASE	MA	01532	You were not appointed to this position to create monolopies or allow two banks of questionable reputation back into a position of again hurting the consumers. Please focus instead on reclaiming the $2.3 billion taxpayer funds back from CIT Group who took the dollars and then filed for bankruptcy. By rights this bank should have been made to close not allowed to return without paying back the money it took and then reward them with a merger. We don't need mega banks just honest banks that will serve the communities and the citizens.

The US has suffered two 'great depressions' caused by the unchecked greed and corruption of the Banking industry, and the perpetrators had the gall to ask the American people to bail them out, a disgusting turn of events that enrages me still. Banks should be limited in size and scope, so that this never happens again. Sheer self-interest-if not common sense- alone should be sufficient reason for all of us to want to render more such atrocities unlikely, if not impossible.

With that kind of record they should absolutely not be allowed to merge. Furthermore, I think CIT should return the 2.3 Billion of Taxpayer funds that were given to them during the bank bailout. If CIT is planning a 70 billion merger with One West Bank, it means they have the money, so how on earth can they have filed for bankruptcy. They do not serve the people and they do not serve small businesses. Let your last word be: NO,Ä¶. You cannot, in all good conscience, allow this pattern of the finance industry running roughshod over the greater good.

Elaine	Shuster	NY	12550
Henry	Chapman	NY	12550	Nothing has been done tn the last six years to prevent another disaster as the banks are still to big to fail. Yes, certain rules have been put in place, but overall the large banks are still to big and who knows what new schemes they they will come up with. We don not need any more mergers. We need the large banks to be broken up.

G.W.	Cheney	NC	28607	It is already a proven fact that when business's get too large they eventually crumble under all that weight and inertia. They become complacent and self important and the decision makers are so removed from reality that they feel anything they do for a dollar is perfectly okay! It never comes down to our government paying the piper, it is always the average middle class joes and Josephine's who take the hit. And always without anything done to reimburse them those few dollars that they need to survive. The only answer is to aways assume that your fellow pols will find a way to weasel out of taking care of us while continuing to be wined and dined by big business. Reigning in big business is a very large need to protect the very folks that make them " big" in the first place. Please do the right thing. Without us you and The corporations don't have a job anyway, so please keep us " we the people" safe from predation from any " big" business.

The 2008 meltdown was perpetrated by the mega-banks, resulting in The People being BLIND-FOLDED (mortgages, derivatives, hedge-funds, et al, whose true practices even printed out for the client to read were/are unintelligible even - - to the intelligent); BEATEN INTO SUBMISSION (America's monetary system is the Best in the World therefore Trust Us, buy, spend, invest, plow your home's Equity into the economy, onward and upward, We know what we are doing 'with your money'-we are the Best); and ROBBED (jobs go overseas, housing market implodes, stock market crashes, Retirement Savings & Pensions Disappear, no medical insurance (no job). And" LEFT TO DIE by the side of the road"(no insurance because you lost your job means NO medical care; No insurance if you or a family member has a "pre-existing condition" - asthma, rheumatoid arthritis, lost left hand in auto accident when hit by drunk driver, cancer but hey just cause that was 21 years ago doesn't mean it won't come back; no insurance means no access to medical care because Doctors don't have to treat you and won't if you have no insurance) - you can't even get health insurance AT ANY PRICE with a P.R.E.C. All this brought to you by Their Super-Management Skills (Deception, Duplicity,and Deregulation). - - And just for kicks these Big Banks kept

cherlyn	Mitchell	GA	30327
Drs. Paul and Mary	Davidson	GA	30328	WHAT ARE YOU THINKING? To be even entertaining this merger...any merger on Wall St. - - - - The more gigantic the entity is, the more it truly IS "TOO BIG TO BE (ALLOWED TO!) FAIL.. ....WITHOUT TAKING DOWN JOBS, and THOUSANDS OF EMPLOYEE PENSIONS, AND in the case of Wall St...other pensions and investments as wel. - - - - Where is TRUSTBUSTER TEDDY ROOSEVELT? Who got this....which to me seems like a no brainer. Already we have too many too big corporations, too many merged media , and Wall St merged Behemoths are the most dangerous Behemoths of all. - - Good banks (are there any?), Bad Banks - no matter. NO Wall St entity should merge at this point. Or even grow. Glass Stegal , come back. Common sense, return to America.

Most all of those in the industry right now should be sitting in a jail cell instead of drawing down huge bonuses and kickbacks. Take these people and break them apart - I worked in banking way back when being a banker was a prestigious, but not well paying, part of the community and we, as employees, did not get paid very much but it was a good place to work. A community - not like now when employees and customers are only numbers without names. Let's take back our financial industry and put it back where it belongs to be - part of the community and NOT robbing the community

				It is bad enough that OneWest has the horrible record of foreclosures and refusal to modify mortgages, and the CIT Group received a huge bail-out and still filed for bankruptcy... to allow these two predatory banks to merge and become "too large to fail" would be a slap in the face of ALL taxpayers, and most especially those people whose lives have been ruined by the actions (and inactions) of these two less than exemplary banks, neither of whom deserve a second chance to ruin still more lives and cost the taxpayers still more.

	Regalbuto			This is absurd. The banks are already bigger than they were pre-2008. This is not just monopoly, but monolithic. If the big banks can't monitor their compliance (e.g. Jamie Diamond) now, how will they do it when they are immense bureaucracies? I've worked in banking for BofA and SunTrust. They aren't just too big to fail; they're too big to manage effectively.

Margaret	Nagel	IL	60202	I find it unbelievable that we get set up for the same trouble over and over and over again. They clean us out, we bail them out, and around it goes. I have never minded if some were richer, others poorer, until now. The scales have tipped so far to the "rich" side that I truly do not recognize my country any more. I count on you to have the integrity to to make banks adhere to the common good. At present, they are out-of-control monsters. They do far more damage to the general public than terrorists have ever done. They need controls!

Hugh	Wagstaff	KS	66204	It is bad policy for mortgages to be sold to speculators that a borrowerer can not contact if there is a problem. It is very harmful to a community to have homes become vacant because the borrower can not contact the mortgage holder face to face. The vacant home is likely to be neglected and vandalized or be a place where crime can be committed causuing ALL homes nearby to become worth less. One such occurance can start a chain reaction of severe economic losses in a neighborhood.

There should not be a merger of these who have proven they are not responsible ==tell them NO. and see if there is a way they can replace some of the money.

janet and frank	dimperio	OK	74133	At ages 64 and 69 when mortgage payments pushed my husband into health issues, we decided we would have to give up our home and file bankruptcy. We hadn't been married long. We lost everything. There was no help at the time and our place which had been improved upon several times in the recent past, was appraised at $350k. a three story, four bed, two bath, two car garage, 7.2 acres in the fastest growing county in the US. It sold at auction for $169k. The banks refused to renegotiate, there was no help and I am bitter now as I watch a good man sick now and have nothing to take care of himself. This is a disgusting situation that banks want more and more while they gobble up the little man's property, homes and retirement. Do Not allow this merger.

We need to do what Iceland did and put the banksters in jail, take away their money and redistribute it for public good for those individuals that have made their fortunes off their ill conceived greedy ideas, as they are bankrupting all of us, and are not finished, nor will they ever be. We must follow Elizabeth Warren's wisdom and do what we must to cut their ability to function as they have, and investigate the federal reserve, as they are as guilty in all of this of creating a harm to the public good for which their charter should be revoked and the organization, or private corporation, should be dissolved, and a new type of over sight of our money developed that is is not corrupt, nor working against the very precepts, they were, supposedly for, and apparently are not.

I wonder what the head of some of the banks begging for bailout would have done if his mother was upside down? I live in a small area where sister bought her house in 2000. By 2005 the house she paid 86,000. had 350,000 in mortgage. banks are lining profit regardless of who i hurt. they need to be regulated, controlled and audited often. If they are afraid of a public hearing it is only because they know their proposal to merge is unsupportable in light of their history. America cannot afford to go backwards -- the American people are already in a ditch after the foreclosure crisis. 				Banks have been abusing their money power on those less fortunate (by leaving them homeless) for too long. They have been borrowing money from our Federal Reserve at 0% rate to loan it out at high interest rates or just to pay their CEO's bonuses. This is why when a new Federal Reserve Chair came along, we the people had a bit of hope this new person would put a stop to this kind of abuse. Is this really what you are doing Miss Yellen? I am only asking because I do not know what you are doing, all I know is if you are not looking after the best interest of those like Mr. Lewis, you are not doing your job. If you are rewarding those that left homeless families to make a buck, you are not doing your job. If you are benefiting from those that foreclosed on families leaving them homeless in the name of greed, you are not doing your job. If you are a supporter of "to big to fail" instead of supporting the homeless families these banks have robbed without repercussions, you need to leave this job.

The more I hear about this, the more boils my blood that we still don't have justice in America and we let the big banks always run the show and do as they please. Where is the DOJ and the many government offices that supposed to intervene to make this banksters accountable? Is not enough that many banks have foreclosed millions of home owners and taken their homes illegally through robo sign, robo notary sign, transfer of notes, assignments of notes, and even without any documentation, simply hired corrupted and illegal corporations that engage in preparing paper work to make look real and foreclose on innocent home owners that don't know their rights and how to defend themselves. President Obama should look into this banks and put them out for good regardless who they are today. Enough is enough. Let's bring Elizabeth Warren to the hearing with these banks and send them to pick up trash in the

				Thank you for your willingness to listen. When big banks or corporations fail, due to their own mistaken and also ego-driven attempts to amass more money than any CEO and their heirs can ever spend...it is ALWAYS on the backs of us,the OTHER citizens. But the thing is this...we can't take it any more. Our backs are bent and broken, we are no longer able to 'bail out' the wealthiest who use these mergers as an insullating mechanism...for their own greed and foolish behaviors. - - If I lived my life so friviously? - - - - I would be impoverished and convicted of fraud, at the least. Would you please knock it off? Would you ridiculously wealthy...other citizens...please come out of your haze of wealth and be happy with all that you HAVE taken? You know what I ask for, for myself? To be a le to pay my rent AND have some left over to eat. - - - - Wake up and find your way to being...part of 'the us' instead of...the 'not us.' I don't think it will make you happy in the long run. At some point...everything has to come to a limit...Let this be yours. I am most certainly and always at wo banks with troubled histories of foreclosures and squandered public bailouts are now asking the Federal Reserve to merge, making them ,Äútoo big to fail.,Äù - - - - OneWest Bank moved to foreclose on Myrtle Lewis, a 103-year-old Texas widow, because she forgot to pay her house insurance. Public pressure stopped this foreclosure, but OneWest has one of the worst records in the industry when it comes to mortgage modifications. - - - - CIT Group bank received $2.3 billion in taxpayer funds in 2008 during the bank bailout, so they could help small businesses with loans. Instead, CIT Group filed for bankruptcy in 2009 while serving very few small businesses. - - - - Now, these two banks are seeking permission from the Federal Reserve to merge into a $70

Dear Chairwoman Yellen and Comptroller Curry:

RECEIVED

The proposed merger of CIT Group and OneWest Bank, with all of its troubling aspects, represents precisely why the public has lost faith in financial institutions and their regulators. We oppose the merger and call for public hearings.

In this proposed merger, Wall Street titans are asking the Federal Reserve Board of New York and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency to approve the creation of the newest Systemically Important Financial Institution (Too Big to Fail bank). Yet no other recent bank merger has been so reliant on public subsidies, promised so much private gain, and provided so little public benefit. If this merger is approved, OneWest's billionaire owners will make billions and Bank executives will make millions, but the public will be left holding the bag, with communities left behind.[i]

- The merger is built on a foundation of immense public subsidy. In 2008, CIT took $2.3 billion in TARP funds, but later declared bankruptcy and discharged its obligation to ever repay the U.S. taxpayer.[ii] For its part, OneWest has received over $1 billion in loss share payments from the FDIC for losses incurred in foreclosing on problematic Indymac loans made to now suffering families, with an estimated $1.4 billion more to be paid to OneWest as losses continue. Adding insult to injury, CIT's CEO boasts that he will use losses from CIT's 2009 bankruptcy to offset the profits from this merger and to reduce the bank's tax obligations.[iii]

- OneWest is harming communities, foreclosing on families, seniors, widows and heirs.[iv] OneWest and its reverse mortgage servicer Financial Freedom foreclosed on an estimated 35,000 Californians. Financial Freedom has relied on an outdated HUD policy allowing foreclosures on surviving spouses of reverse mortgage borrowers, despite a court case challenging the validity of that policy.[v] The bank's foreclosures practices raise important fair housing concerns, since many of the surviving spouses are women and seniors.[vi]

- The Banks are not reinvesting in communities and refuse to offer a strong, transparent plan to do so. OneWest only has two of its 71 bank branches in low-income communities; earned a "low satisfactory" CRA investment grade; its mortgage lending in 2013 to Asian borrowers in California was less than half the industry average; and it only makes a minority of its "small business loans" to businesses earning less than $1 million in revenue. CIT Bank refuses to make loans and investments, or to provide services in most of the communities where it takes deposits.[vii] The banks are unwilling to commit to a public CRA plan that meets community needs and is commensurate with its proposed size of nearly $70 billion in assets.

This merger is an important opportunity for federal banking regulators to demonstrate that bank mergers, especially ones resulting in Too Big To Fail institutions, must provide a clear public benefit including strong Community Benefit and Reinvestment Act plans.

By requiring public hearings and a strong CRA commitment, the Federal Reserve and the OCC would also assure the public that you are responding appropriately to concerns about regulatory capture like those raised by This American Life and ProPublica.[viii]

To do any less sends the message that our nation's top banking regulators prioritize enabling Wall Street profits over public benefits for Main Street.

If you have any questions or would like to discuss this further, please contact Kevin Stein, Associate Director at the California Reinvestment Coalition (415) 864-3980.

[i] According to the Los Angeles Times: "Under the terms of the acquisition, OneWest Chief Executive Joseph Otting would earn $4.5 million a year for three years. He also would get $12.5 million in restricted stock, awarded as a retention bonus for remaining at the bank. OneWest's chairman, Steven Mnuchin, a hedge fund operator who organized the takeover of failed IndyMac, would be paid $4.5 million a year for three years as executive vice chairman of CIT. The agreement does not bar Mnuchin from also continuing to run his Las Vegas fund, Dune Capital. Otting, by contrast, is required to devote "substantially all" his business time and attention to the bank in return for his total compensation of $26 million over three years. Los Angeles Times, Oct. 14, 2014: Groups urge U.S. to reject CIT takeover of OneWest Bank

(NOL is abbreviation for Net Operating Loss)

[v] On Thursday, January 29, 2015, HUD issued new reverse mortgage policy. This new policy fails to adequately address our concerns surrounding reverse mortgages.

				You were not appointed to this position to create monolopies or allow two banks of questionable reputation back into a position of again hurting the consumers. Please focus instead on reclaiming the $2.3 billion taxpayer funds back from CIT Group who took the dollars and then filed for bankruptcy. By rights this bank should have been made to close not allowed to return without paying back the money it took and then reward them with a merger. We don't need mega banks just honest banks

The US has suffered two 'great depressions' caused by the unchecked greed and corruption of the Banking industry, and the perpetrators had the gall to ask the American people to bail them out, a disgusting turn of events that enrages me still. Banks should be limited in size and scope, so that this never happens again. Sheer self-interest-if not common sense- alone should be sufficient reason for all of us to want to render more such atrocities unlikely, if not impossible.

CIT Group accepted $2.3 billion during the bank bailout and then turned around and filed for bankruptcy-this after taking taxpayer funds!Please stop the merger of banks that will be "Too Big to Fail". You need to act for the US taxpayers, not in the interest of renegade banks. Thank you.

With that kind of record they should absolutely not be allowed to merge. Furthermore, I think CIT should return the 2.3 Billion of Taxpayer funds that were given to them during the bank bailout. If CIT is planning a 70 billion merger with One West Bank, it means they have the money, so how on earth can they have filed for bankruptcy. They do not serve the people and they do not serve small businesses. Let your last word be: NO,Ä¶. You cannot, in all good conscience, allow this pattern of the finance industry running roughshod over the greater good.

G.W.	Cheney	NC	28607	It is already a proven fact that when business's get too large they eventually crumble under all that weight and inertia. They become complacent and self important and the decision makers are so removed from reality that they feel anything they do for a dollar is perfectly okay! It never comes down to our government paying the piper, it is always the average middle class joes and Josephine's who take the hit. And always without anything done to reimburse them those few dollars that they need to survive. The only answer is to aways assume that your fellow pols will find a way to weasel out of taking care of us while continuing to be wined and dined by big business. Reigning in big business is a very large need to protect the very folks that make them " big" in the first place. Please do the right thing. Without us you and The corporations don't have a job anyway, so please keep us " we the people" safe from predation from any " big" business.

The 2008 meltdown was perpetrated by the mega-banks, resulting in The People being BLIND-FOLDED (mortgages, derivatives, hedge-funds, et al, whose true practices even printed out for the client to read were/are unintelligible even - - to the intelligent); BEATEN INTO SUBMISSION (America's monetary system is the Best in the World therefore Trust Us, buy, spend, invest, plow your home's Equity into the economy, onward and upward, We know what we are doing 'with your money'-we are the Best); and ROBBED (jobs go overseas, housing market implodes, stock market crashes, Retirement Savings & Pensions Disappear, no medical insurance (no job). And" LEFT TO DIE by the side of the road"(no insurance because you lost your job means NO medical care; No insurance if you or a family member has a "pre-existing condition" - asthma, rheumatoid arthritis, lost left hand in auto accident when hit by drunk driver, cancer but hey just cause that was 21 years ago doesn't mean it won't come back; no insurance means no access to medical care because Doctors don't have to treat you and won't if you have no insurance) - you can't even get health insurance AT ANY PRICE with a P.R.E.C. Most all of those in the industry right now should be sitting in a jail cell instead of drawing down huge bonuses and kickbacks. Take these people and break them apart - I worked in banking way back when being a banker was a prestigious, but not well paying, part of the community and we, as employees, did not get paid very much but it was a good place to work. A community - not like now when employees and customers are only numbers without names. Let's take back our financial industry and put it back where it belongs to be - part of the community and NOT robbing the community

				This is absurd. The banks are already bigger than they were pre-2008. This is not just monopoly, but monolithic. If the big banks can't monitor their compliance (e.g. Jamie Diamond) now, how will they do it when they are immense bureaucracies? I've worked in banking for BofA and SunTrust. Hugh	Wagstaff	KS	66204	It is bad policy for mortgages to be sold to speculators that a borrowerer can not contact if there is a problem. It is very harmful to a community to have homes become vacant because the borrower can not contact the mortgage holder face to face. The vacant home is likely to be neglected and vandalized or be a place where crime can be committed causuing ALL homes nearby to become worth less. One such occurance can start a chain reaction of severe economic losses in a neighborhood.

Not helping those they could help and taking taxpayers monies which I know my share would of been helpful in better ways. It could of helped many who try to manage on less money. There should not be a merger of these who have proven they are not responsible ==tell them NO. and see if there is a way they can replace some of the money.

We hadn't been married long. We lost everything. There was no help at the time and our place which had been improved upon several times in the recent past, was appraised at $350k. a three story, four bed, two bath, two car garage, 7.2 acres in the fastest growing county in the US. It sold at auction for $169k. The banks refused to renegotiate, there was no help and I am bitter now as I watch a good man sick now and have nothing to take care of himself. This is a disgusting situation that banks want more and more while they gobble up the little man's property, homes and retirement. Do Not allow this merger.

As a system, "failure businesses" cannot be allowed to perpetuate their failures; consequences are consequences and, for a vital and healthy system, these two banks must be allowed to go away. The lesson for the management of these two bank must be loud, clear, and a "natural" consequence of their misspent value system when operating these two banks. Period. NO is a complete sentence!!!

We must follow Elizabeth Warren's wisdom and do what we must to cut their ability to function as they have, and investigate the federal reserve, as they are as guilty in all of this of creating a harm to the public good for which their charter should be revoked and the organization, or private corporation, should be dissolved, and a new type of over sight of our money developed that is is not corrupt, nor working against the very precepts, they were, supposedly for, and apparently are not.

Howard	Leidner	CA	92404	And if the banks screw up again, let's find out for once and for all if what they say is true in the statement "Too big to Fail". Let them fail and die, NO MORE BAILOUTS for banks and Wall street. It was way back in the great depression of 1929 that these crooks jumped out of an open window of some skyscraper because of their stupidity and greed , only to end up on the sidewalk being scrapped up ! History does have a way of repeating itself.

The public hearing is the only voice of the American people who cannot afford to pay high priced lobbyists to do their bidding, like Bank of the West and CIT Group are doing. If they are afraid of a public hearing it is only because they know their proposal to merge is unsupportable in light of their history. America cannot afford to go backwards -- the American people are already in a ditch after the foreclosure crisis. Please stop this merger so you don't allow the big banks to bury the American people once again. Stand up to the big banks! Stand in favor of the American people.

				Banks have been abusing their money power on those less fortunate (by leaving them homeless) for too long. They have been borrowing money from our Federal Reserve at 0% rate to loan it out at high interest rates or just to pay their CEO's bonuses. This is why when a new Federal Reserve Chair came along, we the people had a bit of hope this new person would put a stop to this kind of abuse. Is this really what you are doing Miss Yellen? I am only asking because I do not know what you are doing, all I know is if you are not looking after the best interest of those like Mr. Lewis, you are not doing your job. If you are rewarding those that left homeless families to make a buck, you are not doing your job. If you are benefiting from those that foreclosed on families leaving them homeless in the name of greed, you are not doing your job. If you are a supporter of "to big to fail" instead of supporting the homeless families these banks have robbed without repercussions, you need to leave this job.

The more I hear about this, the more boils my blood that we still don't have justice in America and we let the big banks always run the show and do as they please. Where is the DOJ and the many government offices that supposed to intervene to make this banksters accountable? Is not enough that many banks have foreclosed millions of home owners and taken their homes illegally through robo sign, robo notary sign, transfer of notes, assignments of notes, and even without any documentation, simply hired corrupted and illegal corporations that engage in preparing paper work to make look real and foreclose on innocent home owners that don't know their rights and how to defend themselves. President Obama should look into this banks and put them out for good regardless who they are today. Enough is enough. Let's bring Elizabeth Warren to the hearing with these banks and send them to pick up trash in the annette	day	CA	95403	Thank you for your willingness to listen. When big banks or corporations fail, due to their own mistaken and also ego-driven attempts to amass more money than any CEO and their heirs can ever spend...it is ALWAYS on the backs of us,the OTHER citizens. But the thing is this...we can't take it any more. Our backs are bent and broken, we are no longer able to 'bail out' the wealthiest who use these mergers as an insullating mechanism...for their own greed and foolish behaviors. - - If I lived my life so friviously? - - - - I would be impoverished and convicted of fraud, at the least. Would you please knock it off? Would you ridiculously wealthy...other citizens...please come out of your haze of wealth and be happy with all that you HAVE taken? You know what I ask for, for myself? To be a le to pay my rent AND have some left over to eat. - - - - Wake up and find your way to being...part of 'the us' instead of...the 'not us.' I don't think it will make you happy in the long run. At some point...everything has to come to a limit...Let this be yours. I am most certainly and always at mine. - - Thank you

				wo banks with troubled histories of foreclosures and squandered public bailouts are now asking the Federal Reserve to merge, making them ,Äútoo big to fail.,Äù - - - - OneWest Bank moved to foreclose on Myrtle Lewis, a 103-year-old Texas widow, because she forgot to pay her house insurance. Public pressure stopped this foreclosure, but OneWest has one of the worst records in the industry when it comes to mortgage modifications. - - - - CIT Group bank received $2.3 billion in taxpayer funds in 2008 during the bank bailout, so they could help small businesses with loans. Instead, CIT Group filed for bankruptcy in 2009 while serving very few small businesses. - - - - Now, these two banks are seeking permission from the Federal Reserve to merge into a $70

Elon	Abrams	CA	95969	This is a classic case of congress putting the corporations ahead of the people. Instead of keeping strict regulations to protect the public from harmful banking practices, we have congressmen actively seeking to give the banks free reign. - - - - Even during the housing bail out to minimize foreclosures, banks were found guilty of not following the rules and yet some in congress still want to reward the banks. - - - - It is time to stand up for the people and stop this merger.

				This merger would further the cause of the 1% at the expense of depositors and borrowers. It strains credulity that it might be approved by the very institution that saved their necks in 2008. The concentration of power and financial clout by the financial services industry is as much a threat to our democracy as terrorism or poverty.

That is a "no-brainer." Further, those banks that are already too big to fail should be broken up so their component parts have to live with the threat of failure. That is what keeps them doing a responsible job. Have these banker/capitalists lost their undying love for Adam Smith's "invisable hand of the market?"

Subject: Support for the OneWest and CIT Merger

Dear Chair Yellen, President Dudley and Comptroller Curry,

I am writing to offer my support for the pending OneWest and CIT merger. OneWest serves as a strong source of capital and banking services to the Southern California community. This merger will retain and create new jobs in California. I believe the management team and OneWest have demonstrated its commitment to our community and to serving the needs of not only their clients but the community at large and due to this, I do not believe there is a need for a public hearing.

Kind regards,
George Lazar

Subject: Proposed sale of One West Bank

1st of all, I am a customer of One West Bank, and an upper income tax payer. I am opposed to the frame work of it's proposed sale. It worries me greatly, that the proposed merger will add to the list of "to big to fail" banks and this will result in recent history repeating as current history.My opposition is multifaceted but for purposes of this email, I will only focus on the following required remedial requirements.

- Currently One West Bank does not have a loan product for small businesses. Any merger agreement must not only make allowances for this years long deficit but it must commit to a specific dollar amount of small business loans.
- The merger agreement must require that the new entity submit a detailed small business outreach plan that also targets small businesses in low income areas.
- Because the Federal bailout loan of over $2 billion was discharged thru bankruptcy, the new entity must be required to commit an equal amount of home loans targeted to qualified low and medium income families and small business owners. Because the bailout loan defaults affects all of us as tax payers, the new entity should not be allowed to profit at tax payer expense.
