Following the definitions set forth in the 165(d) and based on the financial analysis presented above, Riyadh Bank does not have any material entities, operations, or core business lines located in the United States. Riyadh Bank Houston Agency’s business constitutes less than one percent of Riyadh Bank’s total assets and less than two percent of Riyadh Bank’s net income. In the event of material financial distress, Riyadh Bank Houston Agency, for practical purposes, would rely on Riyadh Bank as a source of funding. If funding was not available from Riyadh Bank for any reason, under the normal course of business and given the stability of the financial markets, Houston Agency within a reasonable time frame would:

1) Immediately cease from booking any new business.
2) In the event there is difficulty in obtaining funds from third parties, sell off a portion or all of its loan portfolio to other financial institutions.
3) Reduce its contingent standby letter of credit exposure by:
   a. Encouraging customers to identify other banking organizations to replace the letters of credit outstanding.
   b. Allowing the outstanding letters of credit to expire.
4) In the event the above steps do not rectify the financial distress to a sustainable level, Riyadh Bank Houston Agency, under the State of Texas, Texas Department of Banking, is subject to conservatorship and/or receivership.
