

2026 Federal Reserve Note Print Order

The Board of Governors, as the issuing authority for Federal Reserve notes, approved and submitted its calendar year (CY) 2026 print order to the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) on July 15, 2025. The CY 2026 print order ranges from 3.8 billion to 5.1 billion notes, valued at $108.9 billion to $139.6 billion. During CY 2026, Board and BEP staff may adjust production of each denomination to best match demand throughout the year.

The print order reflects the Board's estimate of net demand for currency from domestic and international customers for CY 2026. It was determined by several factors, including forecasted currency inventory volumes, destruction rates of unfit notes, and trends in net payments.<sup>1</sup> Additionally, the CY 2026 print order demonstrates a shared commitment between the Board and BEP to allocate BEP's production capacity to essential projects that support the U.S. Currency Program's strategic priorities. These priorities include development testing, completion of banknote series changes, installation of new equipment, and work on projects to improve manufacturing efficiency.

The table below shows the denominational breakdown of the CY 2026 print order and the range of notes planned for each denomination.
