Summary: On September 10, 2018, the Federal Reserve System held a Large Bank Directors Orientation Program for new directors. At the conference there were sessions on the proposed Large Financial Institution Rating System, and the proposed guidance on Board Effectiveness and Management of Business Lines and Independent Risk Management and Controls.

In response to the sessions, some directors expressed concern regarding managing information flow and the volume of information going to the board of directors. Several directors also indicated that there should be greater clarity between the role of boards versus senior management regarding the day-to-day operations of the firm.
