Subject: Regulation AA

Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

We need our government to take back control of big business. Without government regulation, the greed which is inherant in every human being takes control of businesses. Lack of government control and regulation is what has gotten the United States in the financial ruin it is now in. In order to regain our solvency you must enact the proposed credit card rules. Remember, the United States was suppose to be for the people, by the people; not for the business, by the business. Thank you for doing the right thing.

Sincerely,

Ms. Elizabeth Young
